

PRESS RELEASE

Tegron and FluidIQs Join Forces Under Glenmount Global Solutions

Glenmount Global Solutions becomes one of the largest independent industrial IT service firms in North America with 250 associates in 23 offices delivering thousands of projects for hundreds of customers.

IRVINE, CA – January 4, 2008. The management and ownership of Tegron and FluidIQs are pleased to announce that, after four years of close ties and cooperation, the companies have formally joined forces under a common enterprise, Glenmount Global Solutions. FluidIQs and Tegron each retain their strong independent brands and management, and continue to deliver industry-leading services to their respective markets.

Tegron was founded in 1986 and has grown to sixteen locations in the US and Mexico with headquarters in Longview, Texas. Tegron provides services primarily for the manufacturing and processing operations of industrial firms, with a significant emphasis in the Oil & Gas, Food & Beverage, and Energy & Utilities markets.

Founded in 1978, FluidIQs has grown to seven locations with headquarters in Napa, California. FluidIQs provides services primarily for municipal water and wastewater agencies and the consultants, contractors and original equipment manufacturers that serve these municipalities.

"We have worked closely with FluidIQs for years and are very happy to formalize this relationship," says Steve Voelzke, CEO of Tegron. "We are excited for the associates of both companies and especially for our collective customers. This is another major step toward building the go-to organization for innovative solutions in the Industrial Automation and Manufacturing Information sectors."

"We know that our customers and associates will see immediate benefit from the size and strength this new alliance brings to FluidIQs," says Jiehri Robinson, President of FluidIQs. "Tegron has built the systems, infrastructure, and experience for operating a multi-location enterprise that we need to continue our rapid pace of growth in a quality way."

Mike Johnson, CEO of Glenmount Global Solutions, adds "We have worked with both of these companies independently since 2003. The companies have grown at a tremendous pace on their own; and as the leadership of each company started working closer together, the benefits of combining our businesses under Glenmount Global Solutions became evident. These two outstanding organizations are joining forces with the utmost mutual respect for each other, and we are very excited about the foundation that is being laid for the future."

Johnson emphasizes to the associates and customers that the businesses will continue to operate under the independent Tegron and FluidIQs brands and management. "Our vision is for the companies to strengthen and support each other while continuing to build upon the distinct brands that have made them leaders in their respective markets."

About Glenmount Global Solutions

Glenmount Global Solutions delivers industrial IT solutions for manufacturing and processing facilities throughout the world. We are a customer focused professional services firm that provides world class industrial automation and data integration services through aligned associates, industry knowledge, and technical expertise. Through our FluidIQs and Tegron brands, we provide the consulting, design, system engineering, software development, manufacturing, installation, commissioning, training, and field technical services to successfully deliver thousands of projects for hundreds of customers.

For more information, please contact Jiehri Robinson at jrobinson@FluidIQs.com or 1-707-258-8400.